Part A - What is Discrimination?

(11) Discrimination can be either direct or indirect:

- a. Direct discrimination occurs when you treat, or propose to treat, someone unfavourably because they have one or more of the protected attributes set out in Part B below.
- b. Indirect discrimination occurs when you impose an unreasonable requirement, condition or practice that disadvantages a person or group because of a protected attribute as set out in Part B below.

(12) Discrimination on the basis of a protected attribute is unlawful and in breach of this Policy. If you engage in behaviour that constitutes discrimination, you not only put VU at risk of liability, but also expose yourself to possible legal action.

(13) Not all discrimination is unlawful. Discrimination on the basis of a reasonable difference that is not a personal protected characteristic may be both lawful and necessary. For example, you may reasonably discriminate:

- a. between employment applicants, on the basis of skills, experience and employment background, in making hiring decisions; or
- b. between potential students, on the basis of demonstrated educational attainment or aptitude, in making offers of admission.

Part B - Protected Attributes

(14) It is unlawful to discriminate against a person based on one of the following protected personal attributes:

- a. age;
- b. breastfeeding;

- c. employment activity;
- d. gender identity;
- e. disability;
- f. industrial activity;
- g. lawful sexual activity;
- h. marital status or relationship status;
- i. parental status or status as a carer;
- j. physical features;
- k. political belief or activity;
- l. pregnancy;
- m. race;
- n. religious belief or activity;
- o. sex;
- p. sexual orientation;
- q. an expunged homosexual conviction;
- r. intersex status;
- s. personal association (whether as a relative or otherwise) with a person who is identified by reference to any of the above attributes.

Part C - What is Harassment?

(15) Harassment is behaviour or conduct that is unwelcome and unsolicited, that makes an individual feel offended, intimidated, or humiliated.

(16) Harassment may be sexual or non-sexual in nature. Sexual harassment is dealt with at VU under the Sexual Harassment Response Policy.

(17) Harassment may take multiple forms and have a variety of motivations. It can be a single incident, a series of incidents or an ongoing pattern of behaviour and can be perpetrated by individuals or groups of people.

(18) Common forms of harassment seen within, or associated with, a workplace and study environment include:

- a. Stalking;
- b. Badgering of colleagues or other staff or students;
- c. Use of belittling, aggressive or threatening language;
- d. "Hazing" (this may also be bullying if the behaviour is repeated);
- e. Threats to a person's employment, status at work or study, or professional reputation.

(19) Harassment may or may not have a discriminatory basis. It is possible for a person to engage in harassment which is not connected with a protected attribute, and is therefore not unlawfully discriminatory, but this behaviour is nonetheless not tolerated by VU.

Part D - Vilification and Victimisation

(20) Vilification is a form of unlawful discrimination which is public behaviour that incites or encourages hatred against, contempt for, revulsion or severe ridicule of a person or group of people on the basis of one of above personal attributes.

(21) Victimisation occurs when a person subjects or threatens to subject a person to detriment because they have made a complaint or are involved in a complaint process relating to this Policy or other policies of VU.

(22) Examples of victimisation include:

- a. Excluding or isolating a person because they have made a complaint.
- b. Failing to promote a staff member because they have made a complaint.
- c. Treating a person unfairly because they have made a complaint.

(23) You must not retaliate or subject other members of the VU community to a detriment because they have raised genuine complaints of unacceptable behaviour under this Policy or other policies or guidelines.

Part E - VU's Commitment

(24) VU recognises its duty to ensure that people in positions of responsibility make themselves aware of the potential for unlawful discrimination, harassment, vilification and victimisation to occur and to put controls in place to prevent them.

(25) For this reason, VU reserves the right to act to address any potential incidents of unlawful discrimination or harassment, including by conducting an investigation, even if no complaint has been made.

Part F - Breaches of this Policy

(26) VU treats all allegations of unlawful discrimination and harassment as serious matters.

(27) In addressing allegations of unlawful discrimination and harassment:

- a. VU will exercise procedural fairness. Those involved in the process will not be biased or affected by conflict of interest, and will act fairly and impartially.
- b. Confidentiality will be maintained wherever possible in the handling of complaints of discrimination.

(28) People making complaints should not suffer adverse consequences or reprisals from VU or any of its staff as the result of making a complaint. If victimisation occurs, VU will take steps to address it.

If you have been discriminated against or harassed

(29) If you experience unlawful discrimination or harassment at VU, you are strongly encouraged to report the matter. You may choose to:

- a. Address the issue directly with the person who you believe has discriminated against or harassed you, if you feel comfortable to do so.
- b. Seek advice from your manager or a People and Culture adviser (if you are a member of staff).
- c. Seek advice from Student Advisers (if you are a student).

(30) After, or instead of, pursuing the options outlined in clause (29), you may choose to lodge a complaint.

(31) The processes for lodging a complaint, and the methods through which matters are explored and resolved, are detailed in the Staff Complaints Resolution Policy and Procedure (for staff) or the Student Complaints Policy and Procedure (for students).

(32) Discrimination or Harassment may also occur at the same time as Sexual Harassment or Bullying. Please refer to the Bullying Prevention and Management Policy and Sexual Harassment Response Policy for further information.

If an allegation is made that you have discriminated against or harassed a person or group

(33) If an allegation is made against you, depending on the nature and severity of the alleged conduct, VU will address the matter either as detailed in the Staff Complaints Resolution Policy and Procedure, or the Student Complaints Policy and Procedure or through the applicable industrial instrument. The expectations of you, and your rights in the process, are explained in those procedures.

(34) You will be given an opportunity to know the case against you and have the opportunity to respond to allegations made.

(35) The consequences for substantiated breaches of this Policy will depend on the seriousness of the case. Outcomes may include:

- a. disciplinary action in accordance with the relevant industrial instrument (for staff);
- b. disciplinary action in accordance with the Student Misconduct Regulations 2019 (for students).

(36) Disciplinary action may also be taken against anyone who retaliates against or victimises a person who has made a complaint.

If you make a vexatious complaint

(37) A vexatious complaint is where a groundless complaint is lodged to cause harm to, or harass, the respondent.

(38) If VU has reasonable grounds to regard a complaint as vexatious, it may decline to investigate the matter.

(39) If you make a vexatious complaint, outcomes may include:
