Section 5 - Definitions

(7) Agender: Agender people find that they have no gender identity, although some define this more as having a gender identity that is neutral.

(8) All gender facilities: Toilets, showers, or other amenities which do not have gendered signage and can be used by a person of any gender or gender identity.

(9) Gender affirmation: A personal process where a trans or gender diverse person implements steps to live as their defined or affirmed gender identity, rather than the gender assigned to them at birth. Transition may involve social, medical/surgical and/or legal steps that affirm a person's gender.

(10) Transgender: The term is sometimes shortened to trans, and is used to describe those who define their gender identity differently to the sex they were assigned at birth.

Common terminology includes Trans women (M to F) referring to those who were born male but identify as female; although many will identify only as female. Trans men referring to those who were born female but whose gender identity is male (F to M); although many will only identify as male and not trans men.

(11) Gender diverse: People whose understanding or expression of gender does not conform to social expectations based on their sex assigned at birth.

(12) Sex: Refers to the chromosomal, gonadal and anatomical characteristics associated with biological sex.

(13) Gender: The socially constructed categories assigned to individuals at birth based on their apparent sex.

(14) Gender identify: A sense of an individual's self as trans, genderqueer, woman, man, or another identity, which may or may not differ from the sex and gender they were assigned at birth.

(15) LGBTIQ+: LGBTIQ+ is an acronym for: lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, intersex, queer and asexual. The plus (+) serves to capture the many other groups within the gender diverse community.

(16) Non-binary: This is an umbrella term for any number of gender identities that sit within, outside of, across or between the spectrum of the male and female binary.

(17) Gender non-conforming: A term to describe people who have a gender expression that does not conform to traditional gender norms. For example, exhibiting behavioral, cultural, or psychological traits that do not correspond with the traits typically associated with one's sex.
